ELEVARK: CHILDREN LIVING WITH CLIMATE CHANGES

Aida goes to school at an Eco-School but she also takes care of her younger siblings, she cooks, has to go get water for the family and feeds the animals. This is a picture of her mother and youngest brother.

Voices from Uganda

Watch the film about Aida's life on www.enverdentilfaelles.dk/film

Discussion and reflection

- What does Aida do during a normal day? What does she eat?
- Why did Aida not like fetching water? What did her family do to solve the water problems?
- How is your life different from the life of Aida?
- How does climate change influence your life?
- Do you think that Ugandan and Danish children have different dreams for the future?
- Why is it important that the entire world work together to prevent climate changes?

Use your imagination

Produce your own material in English about children and climate change in Denmark – a short film or a text. It could be about what you do at school to save energy.

- Imagine that the children in Uganda would see the material. What would be the biggest differences from their perspective and day-to-day life?

Evaluate

- Describe differences in children's lives in Denmark and Uganda.

Homework

- How does a normal day go in your life? When do you do what? Describe your day in English.
